

Midnight Lunch: The 4 Phases of Team Collaboration Success, from Thomas Edison's Lab
Team.Read™ Worksheet #6...pages 119 - 149

This is the sixth of 12 worksheets your team can use to get the most from its collaboration efforts. Do a team.read and go through the book together!

Bring this worksheet to your next team meeting. Be sure to distribute one to each team member whether you are connecting live or virtually.

Be prepared with your input to each of the 4 questions below. Write your answers directly on the worksheet using the “comments” function in Adobe Reader, or log your answers in a separate notebook. Discuss responses with your team. Don't forget the bonus question!

Each question tracks to the page numbers shown in () below. Page numbers are the same for hardcover and e-book versions, so everyone can follow along regardless of format. Using your team.read worksheet will strengthen your true collaboration process!

PHASE 2 – CONTEXT: THE PATHWAY TO BREAKTHROUGHS

1. In what ways can you foster casual team dialogue about your project? (120 - 126)
2. What are 3 unreasonable hypotheses you can construct that relate to the challenge you're addressing? (126 - 131)
3. Have each person on your team develop 2 real-time experiments and 2 digital experiments related to your project, then select 3 to conduct in the next 30 days. (131 - 135)
4. As you complete your experiments, develop prototypes which reflect the solutions that begin to emerge. These can be rough mock-ups, simulations, or stories. (135 - 141)

Bonus question #6: In what type of environment is your collaboration team doing its best work?
